Your excellency President of Guangzhou University,

As president of University of Mazandaran, I would like to express my deepest gratitude for your cooperation and mutual efforts in promoting academic exchanges between our two universities over the last few years. Both University of Mazandaran and Guangzhou University have tremendous opportunities for expanding bilateral collaboration in various fields of knowledge.

I also wish to express my heartfelt congratulations to President and faculty of Guangzhou University on the 90th anniversary of its founding. Guangzhou University is now regarded as a prestigious large-scale educational and research university which has many domestic and international students and numerous faculties and departments. In Iran, and especially at University of Mazandaran, Guangzhou University is known for its excellent reputation, scientific achievements and academic activities in various disciplines. It is also regarded as a major venue for cultural activities and language learning.

Additionally, I believe that an outstanding educational institution cannot be built overnight. I am confident that during the past ninety years Guangzhou University’s place as the leading institution of higher learning in China was secured through the hard work and selfless devotion of its present and former students and professors.

On behalf of University of Mazandaran, I would like to express my deepest appreciation to you all for your kind cooperation until now and hope we can continue to promote cooperation into the future.

Thank you very much and best wishes,

Prof. Dr. Kourosh Nozari

President
